Dear saints in the Lord's recovery,

Recently, on this site the co-workers in the United States posted a detailed letter and pertinent ministry excerpts related to a grave situation that developed among some churches involving the handling of a domestic dispute in a local church by a co-worker and some of the elders and the spreading of a different teaching by the co-worker. Due to the seriousness of the situation and the damage and suffering that resulted from the mishandling of the dispute, the co-workers in the United States felt that it was important to make our standing in the matter known to the saints in the way of transparency and impartiality. We did so with a singular heart that the situation might be healed and a reconciliation of offended saints on all sides of the dispute could take place.

Our further desire was that a proper pattern of how both co-workers and elders should conduct themselves in handling such cases could be presented to the Lord's recovery according to the Bible and the ministry we all treasure. The same letter and ministry excerpts that were posted on this site were also made available to all the elders in the local churches in the United States for their learning and for them to provide to any saints who have a sober desire to profit from these materials.

We are very thankful to the Lord for the positive initial responses to the letter by all the brothers involved and for the elders' expressed desire to have more fellowship with a view to bringing about reconciliation and healing to all the saints. To foster a condition that is most conducive to achieving these goals, we have removed the previously posted letter from this public website. Again, the letter and the pertinent ministry excerpts, as they were posted here, are available to the saints by contacting the elders in their locality. The ministry excerpts will remain available on this website.
